ENGAGING AND PAYING YOUR SUPPORT WORKERS – IT'S ABOUT CHOICE!

One of the great benefits of self and plan management under the NDIS is that you get to directly engage your own supports who can be NDIS registered or not.

This flexibility is great, but engaging staff does come with some responsibilities...

Will they be employees or contractors? And what is the difference?

If they are employees, how will you collect income tax, pay their superannuation and track it all?

In line with the “choice and control” principles of NDIS, we have developed a range of options so you can choose the best approach to meet your needs, experience and preferences. We will help you select the best option that suits you and facilitate its implementation.

These options range from you being very hands on (with some coaching and support from us), to you being very hands off – except for you choosing who you want to work with you.

Choosing who works with you is probably the best part about the choice and control that Plan Management gives you. We think it should be Your Choice!

Ask us about the option that best suits you.
